

Albert Giles makes the last telephone call from his home in Center Creek on the old party line before the telephone system was changed to modern equipment in 1961.

p1050

THE CENTER CREEK STORY

1061

The James Lindsay home in Center Creek, built in 1899 and now owned by Albert Giles. Shown here is Agnes Lindsay with her grandchildren seated on the porch steps.

THOMAS ALBERT AND HAZEL LINDSAY GILES

Thomas Albert Giles was born Jan. 30, 1883, at Heber, a son of Lorenzo and Nancy Bethia Shelton Giles. He was married to Hazel Lindsay Feb. 2, 1910. She is the daughter of James and Agnes Watson Lindsay. She was born at Center Creek Nov. 8, 1890. To them were born four children, two survive, Lorenzo Giles and Gladys Giles Lawton.

Albert's father was killed in a canyon accident when he was twelve years old. He learned early how to take care of himself. He herded sheep in Utah and Wyoming and worked in the mines at Park City and Eureka, Utah.

He met and married Hazel Lindsay and since then has been a prosperous farmer. They bought the Lindsay farm in Center Creek where James and Agnes Lindsay had moved in 1879. Hazel has led an active life in Center Creek working in the Relief Society and as President of the No. 1 Camp of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers.

Men who saved Center Creek Cemetery from complete destruction:

Otis Sweat and
Thomas Albert ("Ab") Giles

Otis Sweat

Need <sup>1</sup>picts of
Mr & Mrs Sweat
<sup>2</sup>Hist. of Both
<sup>3</sup>Picture of Home

In Hyperten
When you need

PRES

DY
Each cap
of trian

* Not for initial therapy (see box warning). Before prescribing, please refer to both

THOMAS ALBERT AND HAZEL LINDSAY GILES

Thomas Albert Giles was born Jan. 30, 1883, at Heber, a son of Lorenzo and Nancy Bethia Shelton Giles. He was married to Hazel Lindsay Feb. 2, 1910. She is the daughter of James and Agnes Watson Lindsay. She was born at Center Creek Nov. 8, 1890. To them were born four children, two survive, Lorenzo Giles and Gladys Giles Lawton.

Albert's father was killed in a canyon accident when he was twelve years old. He learned early how to take care of himself. He herded sheep in Utah and Wyoming and worked in the mines at Park City and Pioneera, Utah.

He met and married Hazel Lindsay and since then has been a prosperous farmer. They bought the Lindsay farm in Center Creek where James and Agnes Lindsay had moved in 1879. Hazel has led an active life in Center Creek working in the Relief Society and as President of the No. 1 Camp of the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers.

Albert Giles makes the last telephone call from his home in Center Creek on the old party line before the telephone system was changed to modern equipment in 1961.